Documentation on Kaushik Iqbal's Portfolio

So I have developed a Portfolio using Next.js with TypeScript to showcase the photography work of Kaushik Iqbal. It includes four main sections: Portraits, Fashion, About, and Contact. The portfolio features image galleries displaying various types of portraits and fashion photography captured by Kaushik Iqbal.

Features:

Homepage: The homepage features a banner highlighting the main sections of the portfolio: Portraits, Fashion, About, and Contact. This banner provides users with quick access to navigate to different sections of the portfolio.

Portraits: This section showcases a collection of portrait photographs taken by Kaushik Iqbal. Users can browse through different portrait styles and subjects.

Fashion: In the Fashion section, users can explore a variety of fashion photography captured by Kaushik Iqbal. It includes images featuring different fashion styles, models, and settings. Users can zoom in on images for an enhanced viewing experience.

About: The About section provides information about Kaushik Iqbal, the photographer. Users can learn about his background, photography style, and experience. Additionally, this section includes links to Kaushik Iqbal's Instagram profile and displays a selection of his latest photos from Instagram.

Contact: Users can get in touch with Kaushik Iqbal through the Contact section. It includes a contact form where users can submit their inquiries, feedback, or collaboration requests. Moreover, the Contact section features an image carousel that automatically swipes through images, adding visual interest and dynamic content.

Typography:

Fonts:

Libby Font (Homepage): The homepage features the elegant "Libby" font for its headings and prominent text elements. The color scheme is as follows:

Background Color: Black (#000000)
Text Color: White (#FFFFFF)
Homepage Header Text Size: 20px
Navbar Links Text Size: 12px

Nobel Book Font (Other Sections): In contrast, the remaining sections of the portfolio utilize the "Nobel Book" font for their typography.
